Charles B. Ost of Jacksonville has been in this city for the past two days in the interest of the United Grocery Company, for whom he is the special representative. Mr. Ost was at one time a resident of Gainesville, having been the manager of the Plaza Hotel when it was in its glory and was at that time one of the best hostilities in the State. He has many friends here who were glad at the opportunity to meet him again.

Friends of Mrs. James Chesnut of Alachua, who has been quite ill at White Springs, where she went for her health, will be glad to learn that her condition is greatly improved, and that ere long the probabilities are she will regain her normal health. Her daughter, Mrs. Scriven Dozier, of Jacksonville, is still with her, but Mrs. B. F. Jordan of this city, has returned, as her condition was considered entirely out of danger.

R. M. Locke and son, Edwin, of Alachua were among the visitors to this city Sunday. Mr. Locke has been for the past two or three years relief agent of the Atlantic Coast Line, but recently resigned and bought out the livery interests of E. Stringfellow at Alachua. He has a great deal of confidence in that progressive town, which he believes will be the second city of importance in Alachua county. Mr. Locke is a clever fellow, a conservative business man, and will no doubt prosper in his new avocation, which is the wish of his friends.

Aunt Caroline Davis, one of the oldest colored residents of this city, died Sunday. She was a faithful servant in the Stringfellow family for years, and was highly esteemed by both white and colored people. Aunt Caroline was eighty-five years old and leaves two sons to mourn her death, Lawrence Davis, the colored baker of this city, and another son who resides in Tampa. She was one of the few members of her race who were here in ante bellum days, and her passing to the Great Beyond reminds us forcibly of the fact that the "good old darkies" are fast leaving us, never to return. She deserved a good reward and there is no doubt but that she found it in the skies above.
